Body Nurtured

A recent report said Americans have not lessened the costs associated with pampering themselves in spite of the economic strain we're under. Seems we've reserved one luxury that we'll find means to afford, even if its at home. The Bnurtured line of natural hand-whipped body butters produced by Michelle Lee King addresses the skin's request for continual good care. The butters are made with 95% refined shea butter, excellent for the moisturizing we our skin needs after exposure to the sun's summer rays. Don't be surprised if you feel a bit selfish as you try to keep this item to yourself. Good thing the line of butters offers fragrances and flavors distinctive for both men, women and children, so the entire household can take their own time in being nurtured..

Letting the Energy Flow - Manoblue Design

Its been a few years since the Feng Shui phenomenon, and we're still having trouble comprehending or designing our homes to meet the proper energy. Leave it to Marie Burgo of Manoblue Design; a certified BTB Feng Shui, whose study of energy flow and space planning to enhance the "chi" of one's home. An interior designer whose home re-designs have garnered a great deal of attention and continue to attract others who see her Feng Shui style as a way to keep the home at peace. Taking spaces big and small through Manoblue Design techniques and creating a sanctuary is possible. Check out the online portfolio for a show of work.
